Course Overview

Students will:

- Learn a range of skills, techniques and processes using different media – mainly, but not limited to drawing, painting, printmaking and 3D. Pupils are encouraged to experiment with new skills and ideas. The course is all practically based.
- Look in more depth at topic themes and artists' work and learn how to develop their own ideas in response to these. This is in written and visual form.
- Work with increasing confidence to apply the skills and ideas taught in a series of projects which encourage independent decision making and direction of study.
- Learn how to use all the ideas and work produced to create project outcomes that reflect the learning which has taken place.

Assessment

Component One (Portfolio, 60% of the final grade):

Pupils must submit a range of work which includes one 'sustained' project, which covers all the assessment objectives, and any other work as appropriate.

Throughout the course there are regular assessment points and opportunities to improve work, as all work done can count towards the final GCSE grade.

Component Two (Externally Set Assignment, 40% of the final grade):

Students respond to their chosen starting point from an externally set assignment paper relating to their subject title, evidencing coverage of all four assessment objectives.

This takes the form of a project of choice which pupils produce with the support of subject teachers. At the end of the 'preparatory period' (usually about six weeks) pupils have ten hours of 'supervised time' during which they must work unaided to complete a project outcome, showing the result of all the skills and ideas developed during the preparatory period.

Additional Information

- Art homework usually takes the form of an hour each week spent in the art department to independently finish tasks and develop work.
- Pupils are not expected to have any of their own materials at home, but it is always helpful to have a few items.
- There is an optional residential trip in the spring term where pupils can experience working on new and exciting ideas; this work counts towards the Portfolio work.
- We have a history of strong results at GCSE and pupils go on to A-Level and other art-based course and degrees.
- There are a huge range of transferrable skills in learning art and being able to solve problems, research and generate ideas, work independently and have a visual approach are prized assets within fields of design, publishing, media, marketing, teaching and many more.
